-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 07/28/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rothschild et al. (US 6152824).

4. In regards to claims 1 and 11, Rothschild discloses one or more servers in communication with remote users (3:37-43); console systems, which examiner has interpreted to refer to any control software, in this case the matchmaking system and MCP program that control base-functionality such as monitoring game instances and registration (4:51-59 and 6:32-40); software game modules (GICS and GULP 9:39-42 and 10:65-67) that use matchmaker functionality (controlling the assignment of clients to GICS 9:45-56) to provide interactive game content to the clients (9:39-42); where parameters are received from the user at the matchmaker (type or class of game requested 9:22-24); game information is passed from the GIC to the matchmaker (12:1-9); and consol systems communicate with the client using a base-functionality module, in this case authentication which examiner interprets to be the same as registration (figures 6 and 7). Rothschild further discloses that the game modules pass parameters to the consoles or servers (the desire to start an instance of a GULP is sent to the MCP by the GICS 11:8-11). Rothschild seems to lack explicitly stating the use of application programming interfaces for the game modules.

5. However, examiner takes OFFICIAL NOTICE that APIs are notoriously well known in the art of programming and computers (i.e. OpenGL, DirectX, Windows API, OpenPlay, etc) and would have been an obvious way to write a game module so that it could be reused easily and allow future additions.

6. In regards to claims 2, 3, 5, 6, 12, 13, 16 and 17, Rothschild discloses that the matchmaker is in communication with the GICS that provides a lobby where users can chat (10:35-59).

7. In regards to claims 4 and 15, Rothschild discloses the registration of users (5:25-43).

8. In regards to claims 7 and 18, Rothschild discloses that a list of games and player data (10:42-48).

9. In regards to claim 8 and 19, Rothschild discloses lobbies with game data, chat function, player data, menu options (10:35-64)

10. In regards to claims 9 and 20, Rothschild discloses real time games for users (1:20-24).

11. In regards to claims 10 and 21, Rothschild discloses the user device has a video display (3:40-41).

12. In regards to claim 14, examiner has interpreted central server to refer to any server that is not local to a client and as such, Rothschild discloses that the console systems are run on servers and not the clients (2:5-14)

Response to Arguments

13. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant is duly reminded that a complete response must satisfy the requirements of 37 C.F. R. 1.111, including: "The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. A general allegation that the claims "define a patentable invention" without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section. Moreover, "The prompt development of a clear Issue requires that the replies of the applicant meet the objections to and rejections of the claims." Applicant should also specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See MPEP 2163.06 II(A), MPEP 2163.06 and MPEP 714.02. The "disclosure" includes the claims, the specification and the drawings.
